

Replicas of ancient war machines

Replicas of ancient war machines located in Kamień Pomorski near the Kamień Bay (Zachodniopomorskie Province) by the fortifications at Wilków Morskich Street.

Replicas of ancient war machines were made by the Brotherhood of the Western Slavs "Guards of Nawia" in cooperation with Jomsborg-Vineta-Wolin Centre of Slavs and Vikings. The machines which can be admired there include: a ram - considered one of the oldest siege devices, an onager - invented by the Greeks in 385 BC and a bricoli - the oldest hurling machine. There is a board with a description in three languages: Polish, German and English at each replica. Nearby there is a parking place.
